Preliminary Flood Insurance Rate Maps to be presented

Dear Eagle County Property Owner,

Revised Preliminary Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) maps for Eagle County produced by the Colorado Water Conservation Board (CWCB) will be available for public viewing at an upcoming Community Open House hosted by Eagle County and CWCB. The open house will be at 5PM on Tuesday, May 30th at the Basalt Town Hall, Council Chambers located at 101 Midland Ave, Basalt, CO 81621. Virtual attendance via Zoom will be made available through the following Link (<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/8717668202>).

Eagle County Floodplain Maps Community Open House

- 5 pm Tuesday, May 30th, 2023
- Basalt Town Hall, Council Chambers
101 Midland Ave, Basalt, CO 81621
- Sponsored by Eagle County
Town of Basalt, & Pitkin County

The maps are a part of the Eagle County Physical Map Revisions (PMR) Flood Risk Project that has updated the flood risk information for the Colorado River and Roaring Fork River. These PMR maps are the beginning stages of regulatory floodplain information approval and adoption by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). These maps have important implications related to property improvements, flood insurance rates and requirements, and obtaining federal loans or any future sale of affected properties. We recommend that you attend this public meeting and/or contact Eagle County to understand how mapped floodplain designations may impact your property.

Representatives from Eagle County, CWCB, and FEMA will attend the meeting to explain the process and answer questions. The community's comments are an important part of the FEMA review process and the agency will consider them carefully before it publishes the final FIRMs and Flood Insurance Study reports for Eagle County.
